Taxpayer’s Bill Of Rights (TABOR): TABOR is a set of constitutional provisions Colorado voters adopted in 1992 to limit revenue growth for state and local governments.

TABOR requires the voters to approve any tax increase at the state and local levels.

It is the most restrictive tax and spending limitation in the country.

(This definition is very oversimplified!)

Visit the Bell Policy Center’s Website for a more detailed definition of TABOR.

http://www.thebell.org/issues/fiscal/tabor.php
“Referendum C” (Ref C) gives Colorado a five-year time-out from the spending limits of TABOR. (FY 2005-06 through FY 2009-10.) Ref C funds are to be specifically used for public K-12 education, higher education, health care and transportation.

Ref C has given the state an extra $5.7 Billion over the five year time-out.

Visit the Bell Policy Center’s Website for a more detailed definition of Ref C.

“Cash Fund” (CF): This fund is set up to collect revenues, such as fines and fees.

“Federal Funds” (FF): Funds received from the federal government. Federal funds are exempt from TABOR.

“Full-time Equivalent” (FTE): one position continuously filled for a year by the State.
“General Fund” (GF): The fund where the general tax revenues are deposited. The General Fund is used to pay all state programs, such as education and corrections.

“Long Bill”: Colorado’s annual general appropriations act. Also known as the “The Budget Bill”

“Fiscal Year” (FY): The Colorado Fiscal Year begins on July 1st and end June 30th.
THE COLORADO BUDGET CYCLE

November 1st- April’s Long Bill
Colorado Budget Cycle

- November 1: Governor submits his budget to the Joint Budget Committee (JBC)
- November-December: JBC Holds Briefings on State Budget
- December-January: JBC Holds Hearings on State Budget
- January: JBC Hears Department Supplements
- February 1: JBC Sets the Revenue Resolution
- February-March: JBC Begins Figure Setting, Comebacks, and Drafts Long Bill
- April: Legislature Passes Long Bill
Most U.S. States give the Governor the power to set the state’s budget. In Colorado, the Legislature has the power to set, and balance, the Colorado Budget.

During late summer and early fall, departments submit their budget proposals to the Governor's Office of State Planning and Budgeting as part of the executive budget process.

The Governor and the OSPB review the budget proposals and limit each department's budget request based on the Governor's priorities, and determine which new funding initiatives will be included in the request.

The OSPB departments submit budgets to the Joint Budget Committee by November 1. (JBC Website)
JBC staff briefings consist of written and oral presentations of budget issues and a review of expenditures and requests.

Briefings are aimed at stimulating discussion among the Committee members about each department's budget request, its operations, issues of efficiency and effectiveness, and plans for the future.

After the briefing, Committee members decide which issues they wish to discuss with the department. (JBC Website)
During the JBC hearing, the department is given time to discuss its priorities with the Committee. All briefings and hearings are open to the public and are also taped.

The Joint Budget Committee does not accept public testimony on departmental budget requests at the hearings. (JBC Website)
In January, the Committee considers requests from departments for funding changes, called supplementals, for the current fiscal year.

JBC analysts review these requests for funding changes and make recommendations to the Committee for its approval.

In order for the state to have a balanced budget and be within General Fund spending limits, the JBC may also need to find areas in the budget where funds can be taken back. (JBC Website)
By February 1, the General Assembly is required to certify, by joint resolution, the amount from the state's General Fund available for appropriation for the next fiscal year.

This revenue resolution is very important to the deliberations of the JBC. (JBC Website)
During February and March, when the JBC makes funding decisions for the upcoming fiscal year, analysts make and explain recommendations to the Committee on the number of employees, funding, and footnotes for each department. The term used for this process is figure setting.

At the end of the figure setting process, Committee members make changes to bring total funding in line with the revenue resolution and the statutory spending limit. (JBC Website)
The Long Bill is the State’s Budget Bill. Legislative consideration begins in the party caucuses, where JBC members explain decisions and answer questions from their colleagues with help from the staff.

After both houses pass the Long Bill, the JBC members act as the conference committee to resolve differences between them.

After both houses adopt the conference committee report, the bill is sent to the Governor. The Governor has line item veto power in acting on the bill. (JBC Website)
THE 2008–09 COLORADO BUDGET
