2021 Behavioral Health Training Conference

Celebrating Community Partnerships

September 30 - October 2, 2021
Pre-Conference | Wednesday, September 29, 2021
Beaver Run Resort & Conference Center
Breckenridge, Colorado
Greetings,

Welcome to the Colorado Behavioral Healthcare Council 2021 Annual Conference. We are delighted to be back in-person this year! Our theme, Celebrating Community Partnerships, certainly speaks to the joy that comes with creating a space for us to physically come together to grow and learn from one another.

This year’s focus was not chosen lightly. Over the past few years, we have seen many of our communities suffer due to lack of physical and behavioral health resources, exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic, extreme political divides, and racial and cultural injustices. While these themes are sadly nothing new, the resurgence—and importance—of working together to solve these societal issues is something that CBHC strives to help achieve not only during this conference, but far beyond.

As we come together to discuss the importance of proper social and emotional care for all individuals across all communities, we realize the value that building partnerships at a local, state, and national level is the backbone of creating real and lasting change.

This year, we are excited to have Dr. Lesley Brooks, our Thursday morning keynote, speak to the need for systemic change within the behavioral health field to ensure equal access for all, especially for communities of color.

We are also pleased to welcome Johann Hari as our Friday morning keynote. He authored Lost Connections: Uncovering the Real Causes of Depression – and the Unexpected Solutions in 2018, at a time when many of us had never thought about the impact of a global pandemic and the hardships associated with isolation and “lost connections.” Hari’s take on how—over time—we have lost real, valuable human connections and how to regain what we have lost is not only eye opening, but offers us all a way to “start over” when it comes to finding the connections we crave as humans to keep us happy, healthy, and, above all, compassionate towards each other.

Throughout this conference, you will have the opportunity to take part in breakout sessions that enhance the importance of connecting through a culturally-informed lens, offer insights into the value of creating partnerships, and teach resilience in the face of trauma.

We have created this conference with not just you, the attendee, in mind, but for all of those with whom you work and serve daily. We hope you enjoy your time here with us, and with each other, and that you bring home the knowledge needed to spark change within your own community, for as Nelson Mandela once said, “Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”

Let’s start that change today.

Boosting & Building Wellbeing: A Collaborative Workshop on Values-Driven Wellness Strategies

This presentation focuses on the five dimensions of wellness and their adaptability to the individual consumer. We developed value-driven, actionable self-care strategies for our community and Jefferson Center partners. Through our interactive workshop, we will facilitate collaborative strategies to support consumers coping with stress, such as the global pandemic.

Schedule:

1:00pm
2:30pm – 2:45pm Coffee Break
4:15pm End

Megan Kearns, MA, LPCC is a COVID-19 Crisis Counselor with Jefferson Center's Colorado Spirit Team. She got her BA in Psychology and Asian studies from UNC. She graduated from the University of Denver with her Master's in International Disaster Psychology. She joined the Colorado Spirit team because of the ability to help people directly affected by Covid-19. Megan has one paper under review and two published on math anxiety and India's response to their 2005 tsunami.

Muneer Kirmani, MA, LPCC is the Child and Family Specialist with Jefferson Center's Colorado Spirit Team. He graduated from the University of Denver with a Master's in International Disaster Psychology. He joined the Colorado Spirit team to provide service to children, families, and school communities directly impacted by COVID-19.

Chelsea Vibert, MA, LPC is the clinical team lead for Colorado Spirit, a team working with those impacted by COVID-19 through Jefferson Center. She received her Master's degree in International Disaster Psychology and specializes in trauma-based treatments, such as EMDR and TF-CBT. Prior to this role, she provided individual, group, and family therapy to students in Jefferson County schools, as well as providing professional development for educators and administrators on mental health and trauma.

Sarah Greenbaum is the Resource Linkage Coordinator and a Community Liaison for Colorado Spirit, a team working with those impacted by COVID-19 through Jefferson Center. She received her undergraduate degree in Pre-Medicine and Public Health, with a minor in Business. She is currently a second year Master's student in Clinical Mental Health Counseling. Prior to this role, she worked as a Medical Assistant and Coordinator in Pediatric Endocrinology and Orthopedic Surgery offices.
Dr. Brooks is a family medicine physician who recently began work in a Community Mental Health Center overseeing a program expansion and more deeply developing their MAT program for substance abuse services. Dr. Brooks was immediately struck by the different rules, policies, and processes a CMHC must operate under as compared to her experience as a family practice physician working in a physical health care setting. It led her to examine how these differences contribute to stigma and create barriers for minority and marginalized populations to engage in behavioral health care. Dr. Brooks offers recommendations for consideration to improve the behavioral health care system and expand its reach to marginalized and minority populations.

Lesley Brooks, MD serves as the Chief of Addiction Medicine for SummitStone Health Partners and as the Assistant Medical Director for the North Colorado Health Alliance (NCHA) in northern Colorado. Dr. Brooks, a board-certified family physician, has practiced full-scope family medicine including prenatal care, chronic pain, and substance use disorder/addiction in northern Colorado for more than a decade. Since her transition to SummitStone Health Partners in 2020, she specializes in substance use and mental health. As the Chief of Addiction Medicine at SummitStone, Dr. Brooks leads SummitStone’s partnership in the design, development, and implementation of behavioral health services in a new 55,000 sf facility in a public-private partnership with Larimer County’s Behavioral Health Services. The focus of the facility will be provision of services to persons and families with acute mental and substance use needs. In her role as Assistant Medical Director for NCHA, she directs the Alliance’s opioid prevention efforts, including an innovative team of care managers providing support for persons with opioid use disorder in northern Colorado, and provides oversight of care plans for Medicaid patients enrolled in the Regional Accountable Entity (RAE 1,2). Dr. Brooks also serves as the co-chair of the Provider Education Work Group for the Colorado Consortium for Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention which leads the state’s coordinated response to the opioid and prescription drug epidemic. She has spoken across the state, educating her colleagues in medicine on safe opioid prescribing and substance use disorder. She earned her undergraduate degree from Kenyon College in Ohio and her medical degree from the University of Colorado School of Medicine. Her residency training was completed at North Colorado Family Medicine in Greeley, Colorado. She and her husband live in Greeley with their 2 children, 2 dogs, and a hedgehog.
#100 | How the CCBHC Model Overcomes Barriers to Care

In this workshop, we will explore Missouri’s Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic (CCBHC) journey starting in 2017. As CCBHCs expand across Colorado, the lessons learned in Missouri will help attendees learn how the level of adoption and success in leveraging this transformational program is truly unique and replicable. In addition, this workshop provides a glimpse into how a statewide care network led by a provider coalition can transform service delivery across an entire state.

Rachelle Glavin is the VP of Clinical Operations for the Missouri Behavioral Health Council (MBHC). Rachelle has served in various roles during her tenure at the Council and has had the opportunity to develop and support the implementation of statewide integrated care initiatives and data solutions that inform and drive care management, population health, and outcomes reporting. The collaboration in Missouri between the state and provider system is a key element to the success of these programs, and the MBHC continues to be a good partner in supporting our system of care.

Julie Hiett, LMSW has over 25 years of experience in mental health, social services, population health, and care coordination. She began her career as a crisis case manager at a community mental health center and was a school social worker before moving out of direct care and into healthcare IT. Julie has been at Netsmart for over 9 years, working with clients across the country at provider, association/council, county, and state levels.

#101 | Lease Standard

Lease Standard: The largest overhaul to lease accounting since 1973 is finally here. New guidance requires lessees to recognize substantially all leases on their balance sheets and changes many definitions and bright-line rules historically used. Join us as we provide an overview of the requirements and lessons learned from early adopters.

Jami L. Johnson, CPA has more than 12 years of experience working with not-for-profit and health care entities. As a member of BKD National Health Care Group, she provides accounting and audit services to a variety of clients, including health care systems, critical access hospitals, community mental health centers, and community health centers. Jami specializes in providing single audit compliance and as an audit Director, Jami leads the client engagement process, supervising and training the audit team, reviewing audit work papers and providing timely completion of all audit phases. Jami is a member of the American Institute of CPAs, Colorado Society of CPAs, and Healthcare Financial Management Association. She is also active in charitable organizations such as BikeDenver, No Kid Hungry, and Fins Attached: Marine Research and Conservation. She is a 2008 graduate of the University of Hawai‘i, Mānoa, with a degree in accounting and finance.

Grant Smith, CPA joined BKD in 2015 and is a member of BKD National Health Care Group. He provides audit services for a variety of health care clients, including rural hospitals and mental health centers. Grant leads the client engagement process, including the supervision and training of the audit team, review of the audit workpapers and communication with the client, lead audit partner, and manager. He is a member of the American Institute of CPAs and Colorado Society of CPAs. Grant is a 2015 graduate of University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, with an MAcc degree and a BS degree in business administration with an emphasis in accounting.
#102 | Moving from Trauma-Informed to Healing Centered and H.O.P.E. Frameworks to Address ACEs in Integrated Care

This session presents an approach to screening youth for ACEs, responding with Trauma-informed care inclusive of H.O.P.E. and Healing Centered Engagement frameworks, and emphasizes collaboration among providers and community agencies.

Rebecca Gostlin, MEd, LPC is the Director of Clinical Initiatives for Colorado Association for School-Based Health Care (CASBHC). Rebecca leads CASBHC’s clinical initiatives, including current work on increasing ACE’s screening and implementation of Trauma-informed care with a focus on resilience and equity.

#103 | Peer Support Specialist: How to Hire, Train, and Retain Quality Peer Support Staff

This session will cover the dynamics of hiring, trainings, and creating a workforce that values and respects the role of peer support within a behavioral healthcare setting. Course attendees will learn about best hiring practices, training options, supervision techniques, and other factors necessary to consider when building a workforce of peers.

Brandon Wilcox, BS is the current Program Manager of Peer Support at Community Reach Center. He has worked with peer organizations such as Colorado Mental Wellness Network and the Peer Support Credentialing board with OBH to help grow and sustain peer support within his organization and across the state of Colorado.

#104 | The Value of a Facility Dog: Demonstrating Impact for Clients and Staff in a Trauma Clinic

This session will discuss how Fievel our Facility Dog is used in our clinic, things to consider when planning for a facility dog in a community mental health setting, and the chance to meet Fievel in person for snuggles and pets.

Lindsey Breslin, LCSW is the Program Supervisor for Moving to End Sexual Assault (MESA). She has over 25 years of experience in the social work field, providing direct service in the areas of gender-based violence, HIV/AIDS prevention, anti-human trafficking, suicide prevention, and crisis work.

She is a licensed psychologist, and a nationally recognized expert in sexual assault and traumatic stress, and treatment for survivors. She has been the Director of Moving to End Sexual Assault (MESA), the rape crisis center serving Boulder County in Colorado for the last 22 years.
#200 | Putting People First: Advancing Whole Person Care Through a Behavioral Health Administration

Session attendees will hear a recap of the Behavioral Health Task Force work and the process that led to the unanimous recommendation of creating a BHA. The panel will explain BHA work to-date, including key findings from the state's BHA planning process, progress on implementation and next steps. The session will also cover the vision for care coordination—a central component of the new system—and share how a whole person approach embeds equity and inclusion at every level of care.

Robert Werthwein, PhD has served as the Director of Colorado Department of Human Services, Office of Behavioral Health since October 2017. Robert directs the operations and administrative oversight of the public behavioral health system, including mental health and substance use community programs and the Colorado Mental Health Institutes at Fort Logan and Pueblo. He also leads policymaking, performance management and fiscal and administrative affairs for mental health facilities, treatment centers, and clinics statewide.

Summer Gathercole is passionate about Behavioral Health and the opportunity to engage the larger community to improve the system in Colorado. She has worked in direct service as well as at the systems levels, providing training to homeless and low-income individuals to help prepare them for a job, establishing a regional collaboration of workforce development agencies and serving as the Secretary of Labor for Washington, D.C. This wealth of experience positions her well to integrate the input and expertise of consumers, providers, and policy makers, all of whom view the system through a unique lens.

Barbara Drake, MSW is the Deputy County Manager in Douglas County. In June of 2014, at the request of the Board of County Commissioners and the County Manager, Barbara formed the Douglas County Mental Health Initiative to address unmet mental health needs of county residents. Barbara serves on the Executive Committee of the Behavioral Health Reform Committee. Prior to becoming Deputy County Manager, Barbara was the Douglas County Director of Human Services.

#201 | Staging a Successful Community-Based Restoration: Partnering with Community Behavioral Health from Transition to Restoration

This session will explore the transition from jail to community restoration. Collaboratively, the Forensic Navigators, Community Behavioral Health, and Outpatient Restoration will share innovative community transition strategies and insights that have proven successful.

Kathryn Davis, MA, LPC is the Director of Outpatient Restoration, a program she developed and implemented in 2018 for the Office of Behavioral Health. In three short years, Colorado's Outpatient Restoration Program has grown to one of the largest statewide programs in the country providing innovative, community-based solutions for individuals needing competency restoration and other services in their own communities. Ms. Davis holds a Master’s degree in Counseling Psychology and Counselor Education from the University of Colorado—Denver.

Amanda Myers, MPA earned a Master's of Public Administration at the University of Colorado Denver. Amanda’s journey into the criminal justice system began in 1999. Presently, Amanda serves as the Director of the Forensic Support Team at the Colorado Office of Behavioral Health. Amanda has consistently been recognized by her peers and the community as a leader in criminal justice and behavioral health intersections, earning various awards and commendations.
#202 | The Power of Gratitude: A Business Case for Positive Psychology

Gratitude can change a bad day and make it great. Positive Psychology confirms that for anyone who seeks to make the most out of each day, an ‘attitude of gratitude’ can make all the difference. Join Doug Gertner PhD, The Grateful Dad, to learn why and how to ‘have a grateful day.’ Citing work by Robert Emmons, Michael E. McCullough, and others, this session provides hands-on experience to appreciate and document all that there is to be grateful for on a daily basis, with tools, techniques, and exercises to plug-in and pump-up gratitude on-purpose and in practice. There truly is a business case for gratitude and anyone can profit from being grateful every day.

#203 | How the West Central Colorado Threat Assessment Team (WCC TAT) Formed and Implemented a Standardized Suicide Risk Assessment Model and Increased the Safety of Our Youth and Our Community

This prevention-based model has demonstrated that successful early intervention can mitigate risk factors and increase protective factors, showing that success relies upon strong community partnerships.

Laura Byard, MA, LPC is a Clinical Director for The Center for Mental Health and has spent more than 20 years working in rural behavioral healthcare. During this time, she has worked creatively with community partners to improve access to care for our most vulnerable populations. Her work with the West Central Colorado Student Threat Assessment Team illustrates the impact of a collaborative response to the growing concerns of suicide, substance abuse, and safety of our youth.

James R. Pavlich is the Executive Director of Operations, Montrose County School District RE-1J. James has led the community in the adoption and implementation of the Salem-Keizer Model for student threat assessments. After Parkland, he consulted with the FBI and local community agencies on how to improve our response to student threats when they occur. James’s experience serving in the United States Army as an Intelligence Officer combined with years of working as the Montrose County High School Assistant Principal make him uniquely qualified to lead this team.

Matt Smith is the Administrative Commander for the Montrose Police Department. In this role he oversees the school resource officers and coordinates with local behavioral health providers. Matt has been a champion of improving access to services for community members as they encounter law enforcement with the goal of increasing the safety of the community through preventative efforts.

#204 | The Creation of Sustainable Mental Health Care Through Collaborative Community Work

This session will focus on how creating community collaborations with organizations is an important part in offering sustainable mental health care. We will discuss how community relationships allow for a shift away from an individual focus of mental health to a culturally-attuned, collectivistic and shared responsibility of our community’s well-being.

Sophie Keeley, MA, LPC is a trilingual, bicultural therapist and supervisor who offers Gestalt therapy, with a foundation in Social Justice Counseling. She currently works at the Mental Health Center of Denver as Program Manager for El Centro de las Familias, serving the Latinx, Hispanic, and immigrant community in the Denver area. She brings over thirteen years of experience supporting people to deepen their community connection and personal growth.

Anny Mejia, MA, LPC is a bilingual and bicultural therapist at the Mental Health Center of Denver El Centro de las Familias Clinic. She has been providing bilingual services to the Latinx, Hispanic, and immigrant communities for over five years. As a first-generation American whose parents emigrated from Honduras, she is passionate about destigmatizing mental health issues, pushing through systemic barriers, working with multi-generational families as a unit, and developing a sense of community in a therapeutic setting.

#205 | How to Introduce Trauma-Informed Yoga into Community Mental Health Center Treatment

This presentation will discuss how Trauma-informed yoga can be used as a tool for nervous system regulation for people who are experiencing traumatic stress. The program is designed to be used either in conjunction with traditional counseling or as a stand-alone practice. Workshop participants will have the opportunity to participate in two short Trauma-informed yoga practices that focus on skills for emotion regulation.

#206 | Medicaid Behavioral Health Payment Reform

With a growing emphasis on access to quality care in the behavioral health system, the need for payment models that provide adequate provider flexibility and accountability is critical. Come learn about Medicaid’s drive for value-based purchasing and alternative payment methodologies in the behavioral health capitation program and the intersection with other key state policy such as licensure changes and efforts to bolster the behavioral health safety net.

Melissa Eddleman is the Behavioral Health and Managed Care Manager at the Department of Health Care Policy and Financing. Melissa is a Florida Licensed Clinical Social Worker with eight years of community-based behavioral health experience and 11 years of Medicaid experience in two states.

Shane Mofford is a health care consultant who specializes in public sector financing, provider payment strategies, and data analytics; he works with states around the country to increase value, access, and health equity in public programs. With two years of national consulting experience, 10 years with HCPF in a leadership role, and five years with a Colorado-based hospital system, he has a broad perspective that he leverages to inform public policy that drives meaningful change.
#300 | Behavioral Health Entities: Phase 1 Transition Update, Process Guidance, and Q & A with CDPHE

Kara Johnson-Hufford, MPA is the Associate Division Director of the Health Facilities and EMS Division at the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment. Kara is a results-oriented, outcome-driven professional with 15+ years of successful experience providing management in the administration of health and human services programs. She has been one of the key CDPHE staff responsible for the development and implementation of the Behavioral Health Entity (BHE) licensing effort and has the privilege of overseeing the various survey teams responsible for BHE provider compliance, as well as the FGI plan review team, and CDPHE’s sister agency partners at the Colorado Dept. of Public Safety for all fire and life safety code inspections. Kara has been with the state for 11 years and greatly enjoys working and partnering with a wide-array of providers and stakeholders across behavioral health and IDD programs. Outside of her work role, Kara is often found hiking, camping, or otherwise adventuring Colorado’s great outdoors with her spouse and two cattle dogs.

#301 | Alcohol, Still Number One!

While the epidemics of opiate and methamphetamine abuse rightly are in the spotlight these days, we should not lose sight of the fact that the single most devastating substance of abuse remains alcohol. How can we address the acute issues of the opiate/meth crisis, while still maintaining awareness of the role of alcohol in creating devastating impact on persons, families, and communities?

Ann C. Noonan, MA, CAC III, LPC has been an addictions professional for 35+ years, working in many modalities and roles, ranging from volunteering in acute care, to managing the Boulder County MSO. She is now a consultant in the field of Behavioral Health transformation, offering coaching, training, and sharing expertise in adopting evidence-based practices, and designing programs to best take advantage of the ever-morphing climate of prevention, treatment, and recovery supports.
#302 | Providing Technology-Based and Culturally-Competent Mental Health Care to Military-Connected Populations

Geography and mobility issues can be significant barriers to mental health care. This session will discuss the use of technology to deliver care to Service Members, Veterans, and their families. This session will include an understanding of Military Culture as a component to care especially when delivered via technology.

Matt Mishkind, PhD is a faculty member with the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Colorado School of Medicine, Anschutz Medical Campus, and serves as Deputy Director of the Johnson Depression Center. Deb Kozlowski, CPA is a member of BKD’s Health Care Performance Advisory Services division. She has eight years of experience providing consulting, financial, process improvement, and technology support to health systems, physician practices, community hospitals, rehabilitation, and behavioral health facilities. Prior experience includes consulting services with a large international accounting firm and a large regional health system in the Chicagoland area with multiple acute care facilities.
Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinics (CCBHCs) have gained significant traction nationally, with four in Colorado. What does it take to be successful? Join this discussion to explore the model and lessons learned from these pioneers.

Mindy Klowden, MNM is a national consultant, leader, and strategist in behavioral health and integrated care. She is currently the Senior Director with THS, where she manages client relationships and deliverables, conducts research and policy analysis, and provides strategic consulting services to health systems, safety net providers, payers, and associations. Mindy has more than 25 years of experience in behavioral health and health care policy, and nonprofit management. Previously, Mindy held leadership positions with the Colorado Behavioral Healthcare Council, National Council for Behavioral Health, and Jefferson Center for Mental Health. She was also the Chair of the Practice Transformation Committee for the Colorado State Innovation Model. Mindy earned a Master’s degree in Nonprofit Management from Regis University and a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from The Colorado College.

Jacki Kennedy, LPC, CAS began working in the behavioral healthcare field providing mental health and substance abuse care in 1980, first as a provider and later as a manager/director. Currently, Ms. Kennedy is the Chief Clinical Officer at North Range Behavioral Health in Greeley, Colorado. In this capacity, she oversees Support Staff, Information Systems, Data Services, and the Electronic Medical Record. She oversees the CCBHC project director and the system changes that come with this project. Ms. Kennedy holds a Master’s degree in Counseling Psychology from the University of Northern Colorado, is licensed as a Professional Counselor, and certified as an Addictions Specialist in the state of Colorado.

Sara Reid, MA has worked in behavioral health program development, program evaluation, and research for over 10 years. In her role as Program Evaluator for both of MHP’s CCBHC-E grants, she has managed the implementation of an organization-wide behavioral health outcomes measurement process (using the SAMHSA-NOMS tool), assisted in the development of the Community Health Worker program, guided quality measure reporting, implemented project-specific evaluation plans, and used data to inform continuous quality improvements.

Danielle Smith, MBA joined Southeast Health Group in 2015 and has held multiple roles within the organization. She sees CCBHC from an administrative standpoint, including best uses of the funding, lean practices, and how CCBHC funding can be used to enhance services in a rural setting.

Esther Clark, MA joined Aurora Mental Health Center in 2019, and oversees grant strategy, proposal development, and project implementation for AuMHC and its subsidiaries, Asian Pacific Development Center and Aurora Research Institute. Ms. Clark focuses on developing the structure and strategic alignment needed to ensure all grant projects support agency mission, clinical and financial needs, and community needs. Ms. Clark led development of AuMHC’s CCBHC proposal. In her prior role at Mental Health Partners, Ms. Clark led their CCBHC proposal and was a part of the initial implementation team.
#305 | CBHC Policy Update

How did Behavioral Health fare in 2021 and what’s on the horizon for 2022? Join CBHC’s policy team to understand how your legislators’ actions affect how you will be providing services in your community.

Frank Cornelia, MS, LPC is the Deputy Director & Chief Strategy Officer for CBHC. Before joining the organization in 2012, he was a direct care professional with years of experience providing services to diverse client populations. In his role with CBHC, he reports directly to the CEO and is responsible for developing and maintaining relationships with a variety of community and government stakeholders. He also helps set the strategic vision for the organization. Frank provides leadership to CBHC’s advocacy team and leads the development of CBHC’s yearly policy platform. He holds a Bachelor’s degree in Psychology from the University of Minnesota and a Master’s degree in Health and Human Development from Montana State University. He and his wife Jenny live in Denver with their two beautiful—but exhausting—children, Madeline, and Max.

Moses Gur, MA is the Director of Policy and Member Engagement for CBHC. He earned his Bachelor’s degrees in Criminal Justice and Psychology from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte and his Master's degree in Forensic Psychology from the University of Denver, where he studied the broad intersection of mental health and the law. His experience includes working across every sequential intercept both in direct services and in professional training and policy development. Before joining the CBHC policy team, he was a policy fellow for the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Service Administration in the Region 8 office. Moses is dedicated to bringing evidence-supported innovation to Colorado’s mental health policy landscape and is passionate about reforms that increase self-directedness and access to support for individuals living with behavioral health conditions who are navigating the criminal justice system.

Gilbert Romero, JD is a Principal/Attorney with Capitol Success Group, a government affairs and lobbying firm he started in 1999. He is currently the lead lobbyist for CBHC. Gil served in the Colorado House of Representatives from 1984 to 1998; eight of those years he served on the powerful Joint Budget Committee. He is a former Judge Advocate General and a Major in the Army National Guard. He holds a Juris Doctorate Degree from the University of Colorado Law School, and a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science, University of Colorado, with a Master’s degree from Harvard University.

The National Network for Women’s Employment. A native of New Jersey, Karen completed her Bachelor’s degree at Montclair State University. She later earned her Master’s in Public Policy at the Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration at George Washington University in Washington, D.C.
#306 | Your Brand, Your Identity: Investing in the Value of Knowing Who You Are

Throughout 2020, Diversus Health engaged in a branding overhaul that culminated with a change in name, change in how stakeholders are engaged, and a more clear and focused identity. This presentation will share the story of how Diversus Health came to be and focus on incorporating ROI models into your marketing programs to identify value in multiple ways.

E. J. Rickey, MCG oversees branding, marketing and communications across Diversus Health and was responsible for overseeing the development of the Diversus Health brand, in addition to overseeing the brand’s implementation. Mr. Rickey joined the Diversus Health team in July 2019 and has largely focused on modernizing communication systems and strategy to enhance the experience of Diversus Health stakeholders.
There was a mystery haunting award-winning investigative journalist Johann Hari. He was thirty-nine years old, and almost every year he had been alive, depression and anxiety had increased in Britain and across the Western world. Why? In this eye-opening talk, Hari shares the incredible forty-thousand-mile journey he took across the world to interview the leading experts about what causes depression and anxiety, and what solves them. As he writes about in the book that came from this journey, Lost Connections, he learned that there is scientific evidence for nine different causes of depression and anxiety and that this knowledge leads to a very different set of solutions: ones that offer real hope. An empathetic investigation of a worldwide issue, this talk will leave your audience hopeful, fascinated, and full of knowledge that can help all of us—whatever our experience with depression and anxiety—to make our lives more connected and psychologically healthy.

Johann Hari is the author of The New York Times bestselling book, Chasing the Scream: The First and Last Days of the War on Drugs, the product of his four-year, 12-country, 30,000-mile journey into the war on drugs. Called "breathtaking" by The Guardian, "gripping" by the Financial Times and "riveting" by the San Francisco Chronicle, Chasing the Scream explores three startling truths: drugs are not what we think they are, addiction is not what we think it is, and the drug war has very different motives than the ones we have seen on our TV screens. Hari's viral TED Talk based on the book is a funny, fascinating and moving look at the ways we turn to addiction as a response to conditions of isolation and disengagement in our lives, and has been viewed online nearly 12 million times. His new book, Lost Connections, was an instant New York Times bestseller. In it, Hari turns his empathetic lens into depression, discovering, as with drugs and addiction, that everything he thought he knew was wrong. He has written for many of the world's leading newspapers and magazines, including The New York Times, Le Monde, The Guardian, the Los Angeles Times, The New Republic, The Nation, Slate, El Mundo, and The Sydney Morning Herald. He was a lead op-ed columnist for The Independent, one of Britain's leading newspapers, for nine years and was twice named National Newspaper Journalist of the Year by Amnesty International. He was named Environmental Commentator of the Year at the Editorial Intelligence awards, Gay Journalist of the Year at the Stonewall awards, and won the Martha Gellhorn Prize for political writing.
#400| Strengthening the Behavioral Health Safety Net by 2024
This session will provide an overview of the statewide implementation plan to strengthen and expand the behavioral health safety net system in Colorado. The speakers will walk through the safety net model, anticipated changes and timelines, clear goals, and outcomes, and what to expect with the implementation of this model in 2024.

Camille Harding, LPC serves as the Strategy and Innovation Officer for the state’s Office of Behavioral Health within the Department of Human Services. Camille has worked in behavioral health as a clinician for over a decade and has held several leadership roles at the state in both Medicaid and CDHS, using her clinical experience to improve the behavioral health delivery system for Coloradans.

Tracy Johnson, PhD brings more than 20 years of experience in health policy and program development, research, and evaluation. Johnson currently serves as the State of Colorado Medicaid Director in the Health Programs Office. Previously she was with Denver Health and Hospital Authority (DHHA) where she served as DHHA’s Director of Health Care Reform Initiatives. She led Denver Health’s implementation of federal health care reform, specifically in the areas of delivery system and payment reform. Prior to that, she served as principal of her own health policy consulting firm and in state government. Throughout these roles, she has directed numerous research and consulting projects across the population health spectrum—health insurance coverage, population segmentation/data analytics, delivery system design, health system financing and payment models, safety net provider issues, and health equity.

#401| Diagnostic Classification of Mental Health and Developmental Disorders in Infancy and Early Childhood: DC: 0-5™ An Overview
What does mental health have to do with babies? Can very young children be diagnosed with clinical disorders? This session will provide an overview of the DC:0-5™ diagnostic classification system and help practitioners understand the relevance of DC:0-5 for community mental health.

Shannon Bekman, PhD, IECMH-E® is a licensed clinical psychologist and Director of Right Start for Colorado at Mental Health Center of Denver. Sarada Leavenworth is the Senior Director of Strategy and Development for Axis Health System, where she oversees various areas of the organization, including development, public relations, engagement services and patient experience. Prior to serving with Axis, Sarada was the Division Director for Volunteers of America (VOA) in Southwest Colorado for over six years, overseeing the VOA Southwest Safehouse, Durango Community Shelter, and Veteran Support Services.

#404 | Partnering with Law Enforcement for Effective Behavioral Health Crisis Response

In our session we will be discussing our Crisis Intervention Response Unit and our collaborative partnerships with law enforcement and first responders. We will inform attendees how our co-responder program is modeled, and operates to address the needs of community members in crisis. Additionally, we look at community impact by how our team identifies needs and allocates appropriate resources, while working with first responders in the city and county of Denver.

Michael “Mike” Engebrecth is the Deputy Chief of the La Junta Police Department. Mike started his career in public safety in 2003 with the fire service and went into law enforcement in 2008. At the end of 2017, Mike left the La Junta Police Dept. to pursue a job with Southeast Health Group as their Law Enforcement Liaison Coordinator. Mike's focus turned to developing a Co-Responder program with local law enforcement to help alleviate the pressure on law enforcement and the local emergency department by coordinating appropriate services for the community members in the six county catchment area that suffer with behavioral health issues. Southeast Health Group launched a Behavioral Health Co-Responder pilot program working with local law enforcement agencies in Otero County. In 2019 the program grew to include two Co-Responders that serve Otero, Crowley, Prowers, and Baca Counties. In January of 2021, Mike returned to the La Junta Police Department as the Deputy Chief.
Elizabeth Everett, LPC is one of two of the Assistant Program Managers that supervise the Crisis Intervention Response Unit with the Mental Health Center of Denver, in partnership with the Denver Police Department. Before being promoted to supervisor she was a Co-Responder in two different police districts since its inception in 2016. She is currently a Licensed Professional Counselor and has been at MHCD for nine years. She considers it a professional privilege having the opportunity to partner with the Denver Police Department, finding creative and lasting solutions for people in crisis.

Christopher ‘Troy’ Padilla, BS is currently the Criminal Justice Program Manager/Co-Responder for Southeast Health Group. This program works with law enforcement and fire/EMS agencies in a six-county area (currently 14 different agencies), to build and maintain relationships, to provide partnership, early intervention, and support to the community we serve. Effective strategies are implemented to divert individuals, with behavioral health concerns, from the criminal justice system and/or emergency department into treatment.

Samantha Rabins, LCSW is one of two Assistant Program Managers that directly supervises the Crisis Intervention Response Unit (CIRU). She supervises Mental Health Center of Denver clinicians (i.e., “Co-Responders”) who directly partner with Denver Police Department, Denver Fire Department, and Denver Sheriff’s Department. She originally joined CIRU as a Co-Responder in 2016 at the start of this program and worked primarily with Denver Police. Samantha began with Mental Health Center of Denver in 2012 as a case manager and became a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) in 2015. Working in the field of crisis, partnering with Denver’s First Responders, and growing the CIRU has been the highlight of her career, and she continues to look forward to what our team and partnerships can do to support the larger community.

#500 | Behavioral Health in The Next Normal: Planning for a Changing Market

Join OPEN MINDS CEO Monica E. Oss for an update on the evolution of health and human service field from crisis to ‘next normal’. This session will recap the strategic developments that are reshaping how behavioral health services are financed and delivered—and how consumer and payer preferences for services have changed in the past 18 months. The session will include a discussion of the emerging competitive forces, and the new opportunities on the horizon. The session will cover:

• The key changes in the health and human landscape during the pandemic
• Changing payer and consumer preferences for behavioral health treatment
• New opportunities for behavioral health organizations in the ‘next normal’

Monica E. Oss, MS is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of OPEN MINDS, a national market intelligence and strategic advisory firm specializing exclusively in the markets of the health and human service field serving consumers with chronic conditions and complex support needs. For the past three decades, Ms. Oss has been at the forefront of clinical, management, and technological innovation in the sectors of the health and human service field serving consumers with chronic conditions and complex support needs. She leads a team of 200+ advisors, subject matter experts, and analysts focused on a single mission—to improve the care delivered to these consumers by supporting the business information needs of the organizations that finance and deliver their care. Ms. Oss is well known for her thought leadership in this market sector—her daily executive briefing, industry forums, keynote engagements at national conferences, and numerous books and articles—focused on the strategic and marketing implications of the evolving health and human service field. She has unique expertise in market modeling, payer financing models, provider rate setting, and service system design and reimbursement.
#501 | Harm Reduction in the Clinical Setting and in Everyday Life

We hear the phrase Harm Reduction used in many different contexts these days. From the term’s roots in syringe exchange programs, to its role in strategies like Motivational Interviewing, the concept has wide application. Take some time to understand the nuances of Harm Reduction as both a strategy and a way of life!

Jess Fear, MA, LPC, LAC (see bio on page 32)

#502 | Importance of Providing Culturally-Relevant and Affirming Care to Members of the LGBTQ+ Community

LGBTQ+ affirming care training is necessary for staff working in behavioral health settings, hospitals, and social service organizations. LGBTQ+ individuals experience higher rates of mental health challenges and often experience troubling encounters with mental health providers who do not fully understand or appreciate the concerns that stem from being a part of a marginalized community (or more than one marginalized identity).

Steven Haden, MSW, MBA, CPRP is a mental health and social justice advocate with a focus on the disproportionate burden behavioral health concerns have on marginalized communities especially those that identify as LGBTQ+. In 2018, Steven co-founded Envision: You, an initiative that works to improve behavioral health outcomes by addressing the disparity in care that LGBTQ+ individuals encounter every day. As chief executive officer of Envision: You, Steven has led the initiative to implement an awareness campaign, behavioral health provider training program and no-cost virtual behavioral telehealth services to increase access to LGBTQ+ affirming care. His leadership continues to lay the groundwork for additional programs that support, educate, and empower members of the LGBTQ+ community living with mental health and substance use disorders. In addition to leading Envision: You, Steven works at the Mental Health Center of Denver on an Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) team providing intensive, integrated community mental health care services to criminal justice involved individuals. Trained to provide trauma-informed care, he also creates therapeutic materials for behavioral intervention management strategies for incarcerated women through the non-profit Insights Foundation. As a person with lived experience, Steven understands the importance of providing affirming care to individuals that identify as LGBTQ+.
#503 | Changing the Workplace Landscape: How Technology Can Revolutionize One of the Most Common, Yet Underutilized, Behavioral Health Resources

Suicide is a global health crisis and the tenth leading cause of death. This session will explore how Vail Health-EVBH has revolutionized existing services, such as EAPs, through utilization of technology to expand services, increase accessibility, enhance awareness, and address affordability.

Mike Richards, BBA is an accomplished technical leader with over 18 years of Management Information Technology experience in both the public and private sectors. He has designed, developed, and deployed a variety of technical solutions in a number of business sectors. In this time, he has run a successful web development and consulting agency, worked for the Town of Vail as a Senior Systems Engineer, and more recently accepted the position of Data System Director for Eagle Valley Behavioral Health.

Casey L. Wolfington, PsyD is a licensed psychologist and the Community Behavioral Health Director for Eagle Valley Behavioral Health. Dr. Wolfington has focused her career on the development of behavioral health workforce strategy with a specific focus on rural communities. Dr. Wolfington founded, developed, and supervised several student training programs, including the creation and accreditation of Colorado’s only rural APA-accredited Predoctoral Internship Consortium. As of 2021, over 50 students have completed their clinical training under her supervision.

#504 | Rural & Frontier Disaster Behavioral Health: A Panel Discussion on Meeting Community Needs Amidst Disasters, Pandemics, and Suicides

For rural disaster behavioral health, guiding communities through traumatic events is especially challenging, rewarding, and unique. Join a panel discussion on how the Colorado Office of Disaster Behavioral Health and three CMHCs collaborate to support their vast regions during disasters, suicides, and pandemics.

Ed Hagins, MEd, LPC, NCC serves as the Director of Physical Operations & Special Projects at The Center for Mental Health. In this role, he leads a team of professionals in disaster behavioral health, suicide crisis debriefing, oversight of physical and fleet operations, purchasing & procurement, and grants administration along with several other special projects. Ed has served a variety of populations within behavioral health in his 25-plus year career, including corrections clients, children in residential placement, sex-offenders, and persons with chronic mental illness.

Aimee Voth Siebert, MA is the Disaster Behavioral Health and Inclusion Worklead in CDPHE’s Office of Emergency Preparedness and Response. The DBH program builds statewide relationships and capacity to help respond to the psychosocial needs of Colorado communities during disasters.
#504 | Rural & Frontier Disaster Behavioral Health (Speaker bios continued)

Justin Carbee, BS is the Safety Manager for Health Solutions. In addition to his management position, Justin serves as the Disaster Response Coordinator for Health Solutions and within his first few days of joining Health Solutions responded to the Spring Fire in southern Colorado. Justin is a Captain in the Utah Army National Guard assigned to 19th Special Forces Group, in which he participates with the Homeland Response Force as the Safety Officer. Previously Justin was Medical Operations Officer for the New Hampshire National Guard where he worked in the Joint Operations Center coordinating medical operations for state disasters.

Mandy Kaisner, MA, LPC is the Chief Operating Officer for Solvista Health. She has served in the field of Disaster Behavioral Health for over 20 years, providing direct behavioral health response to several major wildfires and serving her organization as Incident Command during the COVID-19 pandemic. She has led efforts to bring First Responder supports for resiliency and suicide prevention, including partnerships with community colleges to incorporate resiliency training into the curriculum for First Responder training programs for Fire and EMS partners.
